U.S. Casts First UN Council Veto

By WILLIAM H. OATHE Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — After 24 years, the United States cast its first Security Council veto Tuesday night in rejection of an African-Asian demand for complete isolation of Rhodesia and its white government.

U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost voted with British Ambassador Lord Caradon to kill a resolution sponsored by African and Asian countries condemning Britain's refusal to use force against the government of its former African colony and calling on all nations to sever all relations and means of communication with Rhodesia.

Yost said the United States had closed its consulate in Rhodesia, but the resolution "would amount to barring American citizens in Rhodesia from contact with the outside world and this we cannot support."

Yost also said his government opposed the condemnation of Britain for not using force. There was speculation that the American veto was cast so that Britain would not have to stand alone, but a spokesman for the U.S. delegation refused to say whether the British had asked for such support.

Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik told the council the U.S. vote was "a dark page in the annals of the United Nations" because the veto had been used "to protect... racist countries."

Yost replied that the Soviet Union had "exercised the veto more than 100 times, the last time to prevent council action over the Soviet invasion of a small country in Central Europe."

Malik admitted that he had vetoed a 1968 resolution condemning the invasion of Czechoslovakia but said he did so to protect that country from imperialism.

Since the council first met on Jan. 17, 1946, the Soviet Union has used the veto 105 times, Britain and France four times each, Nationalist China once and now the United States once.

The vote on the African-Asian resolution was nine in favor, Britain and the United States opposed, and four abstaining. The nine votes would have been enough to pass it had Britain and the United States not used the veto which the five permanent members of the council have. And Britain's veto alone was enough to kill the resolution.

On another vote, 10 abstentions defeated a British resolution condemning the Rhodesian government's proclamation of a republic on March 3 and calling on all U.N. members not to recognize or aid that action.

watch pocket instead of glancing at his wrist. It was taken for granted in a small town that if a girl went away to college she must have felt she was too homely to win a husband and had decided to become a schoolteacher.

A married housewife could call up an employment agency and hire a good reliable maid—just like that.

If a fellow had trouble with his eyeglasses, he could go to the dime store and pick out a pair that didn't make him squint.

A man's word or his handshake was as good as his signature... the railroads ran on time... and nobody tried to sell America short.

Those were the days. Remember?

House Seniority System Is Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reform-minded House Democrats, routed last month when they challenged Speaker John W. McCormack, are launching another attack on the congressional establishment—a mild blow against the seniority system.

They prepared to ask their fellow Democrats today to approve a study of party rules in the House to see if a better way exists to select committee chairmen than by how long members have served.

Small as such a step would be, the House leadership sought to make it even smaller Tuesday by coming up with an alternative proposal that would further narrow the scope of the inquiry.

But at a lively meeting of the liberal Democratic Study Group—DSG—Tuesday night, the reformers rejected the leadership proposals and prepared to go ahead with their resolution.

It called for the appointment of a committee to study the present system and recommend ways chairmen can be made more responsive to the Democratic caucus, which consists of all House Democrats.

The complaint of most liberals against the seniority system is not that it puts old men in charge of the committees, but

Dr. J.W. (Jim) Cady, president of Texarkana College, was speaker at Monday's Lions Club Luncheon at Town & Country restaurant.

The college has grown to almost 2,000 enrollment with half of this growth in the last few years. The college was founded in 1927 as part of the Texarkana school system but was separated and set up in its present location in 1955 as an independent junior college.

In addition to its regular academic program common to junior colleges, it offers programs in nursing, technician work, training in police work and a school for commercial aviation pilots.

Dr. Cady projected slides showing buildings, classrooms and social projects at the college as he narrated. The program was arranged by Hubert Thrash.

Guests were Lioness Wagner from McCaskill, Bob Conrad of Texarkana and Lion Truman Ray of DeQueen.

Weather Is Scheduled to Be Warmer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Warmer weather and more precipitation was expected to be the weather picture in Arkansas for the next few days.

A weak southerly flow of warm air had developed in Arkansas today as a low pressure storm center centered over the Rockies moved eastward, the Weather Bureau said.

The bureau said the newest storm would push into Arkansas late tonight or early Thursday bringing heavy rains to the already drenched Arkansas area.

The forecast called for cloudy skies, slowly rising temperatures and more rain.

Highs Tuesday ranged from 36 at Harrison to 58 at El Dorado. Overnight lows included 33 at Fayetteville, 32 at Harrison, 36 at Jonesboro, 43 at Pine Bluff, 41 at Texarkana, 39 at El Dorado, Little Rock and Fort Smith and 38 at Memphis.

Precipitation for the 24-hour period that ended at 7 a.m. today included .15 inches at Harrison, 1.40 at Jonesboro, .48 at Pine Bluff, .09 at Texarkana, .22 at El Dorado, .60 at Little Rock and .18 at Fort Smith.

It puts in old men who are opposed to Democratic party programs.

The alternate proposed by some older DSG members on behalf of the leadership asked for a review of the rules and practices of the caucus, relating to the organization of the standing committees of the House.

Students End Occupation at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Eight students ended their occupation of the administration building at predominantly Negro Philander Smith College here this morning after members of the board of trustees had agreed to a demand for more black representation on the board.

The eight black students left the building through the front door at 9 a.m. as a small crowd of students looked on. Duane Harris, one of the students who emerged from the building, said they had demonstrated what could be done by working together.

The Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees met Tuesday and agreed to the demand that the board accept three black students and three teachers as voting members.

Dr. M. A. Jackson of Little Rock, the board chairman, said the 102-year-old college's charter would be revised to permit students and teachers to be named trustees.

Jackson also said there would be no disciplinary action against the students.

The students said they wanted representation in order to make improvements in the operation of the business office, along with reforms in the campus postoffice, bookstore and cafeteria, and better student-teacher relations.

Jackson described the students that moved into the administration building before dawn as a "minority militant group."

No attempt was made to remove the students from the building and no incidents were reported.

Later Tuesday, about 200 of the college's 400-member student body voted to support the demonstration and to begin an immediate boycott of classes.

"We had met with student representatives several times," Jackson said. "Apparently there had been no middle ground acceptable to the student body and the students found it necessary to protest in order to be heard."

Jackson also said the board would consider other student grievances.

Leon Wiles, president of the All-Campus Commission, the student government association, said that Monday night students rejected a board proposal to accept one black student as a voting member and two others as nonvoting members.

"We're not trying to explode things," Wiles said. "We're not trying to be unreasonable or extreme. We want to deal with these things at the conference table."

Epigraph is the term used for a quote placed after the title page of a book and used somewhat as a motto. The word also refers to an inscription on a statue, monument or coin.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — "The Young Country," ABC's Movie of the Week Tuesday night, was a Western in the "Maverick" vein, substituting wit and dry humor for fist fights and guns. Roy Huggins who developed the "Maverick" series that disappeared about a decade ago also produced Tuesday's pilot film.

"The Young Country" was passed over for next season since none of the fall schedules of the three networks includes a new Western, but it turned out to be an entertaining switch on a familiar theme.

The central character was a smiling young drifter whose skills included poker, an eye for an easy dollar and a talent for sliding easily into and out of tight spots. His troubles started when he found $38,000 on a dead man and tried to return the stolen money and collect the reward.

There was no gun play: The villain was dastardly but unarmed, and the belle of the cowtown turned out to be a con artist. The hero avoided fights, hated guns and was played by Roger Davis who sounds like Henry Ford.

The tone of the 90 minutes was light and easy but slipped short of tongue-in-cheek exaggeration or broad comedy. It is a pleasant idea to put on the shelf until the networks' passion for series about teams of young

QUESTION: I was in the military service for about three years during World War II. When I retire from Civil Service, my military service will be used to compute my Civil Service retirement. Can I also get social security credit for my military service during World War II? ANSWER: No. If Civil Service uses military service to pay monthly benefits, the social security cannot use that military service. QUESTION: I am working under Civil Service and receive credit for social security. I am also a member of the National Guard and attend summer camp each year. Will I get any credit for social security for my pay from the National Guard? ANSWER: You will get credit for the pay you receive during the two weeks training period. However, you do not get credit for the pay you receive for weekly or monthly meetings.

QUESTION: I have Medicare and I will go to the hospital for surgery soon. Can I stay in a private room if I desire or will I have to take a semi-private room? ANSWER: Medicare will not pay for the extra charge for a private room, but of course, you may choose to have a private room and pay for the difference yourself. The only time the extra charge for a private room is covered under Medicare is when the private room is medically necessary because of your condition.

QUESTION: Are private duty nurses services covered under Medicare? ANSWER: No. Only the cost of the hospital nursing service, which is part of your hospital bill is covered under Medicare. QUESTION: I understand that Medicare will pay 100 per cent of certain doctor's services in a hospital. Is this true? ANSWER: Yes. When you are a bed patient in a qualified hospital, your medical insurance pays all (100 per cent) of the reasonable charges made by physicians for radiology and pathology services you receive. question: I have considerable rental income in addition to my wages. When I reach 62 and retire, will my rental income prevent me from receiving social security? ANSWER: No. Only earned income is considered in the social security retirement test. This includes wage and self-employment income but not rental income.

Picking a Hair Style For an "objective opinion" on a new cut, trace the outline of your face on a mirror. If you've got a circle, offset the roundness with bangs, or straight hair on the sides. Long thin faces can be drawn out with short side curls or a full style. To soften square-cut faces the hair should flow in easy waves and curls. Add height on the top of diamond shapes and put the fullness on the bottom of heart shapes. If you're one of the fortunate ones whose facial diagram is an oval, wear all the styles you like.

THE IMMEDIATE SOUND

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (NEA) — "See that, that red stain on the wall there?" Shelby Singleton held the flashlight up so we could see the splashes on the stone.

"That's bloodstains from the Civil War," he said. "Genuine bloodstains from the genuine Civil War."

We were crawling around in the vast basement of the plantation he had just bought on the outskirts of the city. Across the fields, beyond the old smokehouse and kitchen and slave quarters, the lights of a big new shopping center could be seen. But here it could have been the mid-19th century.

Singleton drove around the huge house. He had forgotten to bring a key, so we couldn't get into the building itself. It was Barbara, his wife, who found the open basement door.

For Singleton, the purchase of the plantation is obviously a prideful achievement. He really doesn't need it as a residence. He already has a home in Brentwood, one of Nashville's finer neighborhoods, and a chalet in Gatlinburg, the mid-South's top winter resort, and a home in Louisiana and an apartment in New York.

But it's another indication of how important Singleton has become. In just a little more than two years, he has become perhaps the single most powerful man in Nashville's booming recording industry, with at least 16 labels. And Nashville cuts 52 per cent of the records in the U.S.

Singleton is a record producer. He wears cowboy boots and green slacks and a green shirt and smokes black cigarettes. He is chunky and cheerful, but he obviously is the boss and knows what he wants.

His office is in that part of Nashville the locals like to call Music City. Most of the buildings here are old mansions, but a few companies—like RCA and Decca—have put up smart new structures. The people walk from one to the other through back alleys, jumping across puddles and shinning over fences.

Singleton took a couple of old wooden buildings — one housed a beauty parlor — and connected them with a hastily-built addition and that's his office. It's out in the back, behind a supermarket. He has added a neat little recording studio. That is painted blue and his men like to call it "The Blue Funk." In another part of town, Singleton has a huge building which houses mailing and production and art offices.

He's been in the recording business a long time. With Mercury for many years, he was responsible for the hits of people like Patti Page, Johnny Mathis, Roger Miller, Dusty Springfield, Brook Benton, Leslie Gore, Ray Stevens and Clyde McPhatter.

He started his own company late in '67 in New York — when his private clairvoyant, via a weekly mental telepathic hook-up, said the time was right — and moved to Nashville a year later.

"I was spending two weeks here and two weeks there," he said, "so I figured it would be easier to stay here. And there was the economy of it, too. My house payments here are what it cost to park two cars in New York."

The first year was slow, but things picked up when he had Jeannie C. Riley's "Harper Valley P.T.A." From then on, it has been a steady upward climb. Today, Singleton's recording stars include Johnny Cash, probably the top country star of the moment. He also has labels that specialize in rhythm-and-blues and rock and many of these do pop, as well.

"Music to me is only a sound," Singleton says. "If you put the right song with the right artist and the right sound at the right time—you have a hit."

He's done it many times and has the plantation to prove it.

HOW TO RUIN A GOOD MARRIAGE

Dear Helen: My first husband drank and ran around. My present husband seemed so wonderful, but I caught him in a lie. He said he came right home from work, but I checked. It's only a half-hour drive, and he made it in 45 minutes.

You may think this is too small a time for any bumpy, but my first husband could drink six straight ones in 10 minutes, and it didn't take him much longer for whatever else he had in mind.

They say certain women are accident prone when it comes to marriage. Could I have chosen two louses?—SELINA

Dear Selina: I prefer to think you are suspicion-prone. If you don't stop heaping the sins of No. 1 on No. 2's head, you may soon be in the market for No. 3!—H.

Dear Helen: This is what good-heartedness gets you. I lent this good buddy $500 to pay for his divorce and invited him to stay with my wife and me because he was so low. He fell down at my feet in gratitude—at first!

Now I have neither a wife nor my $500. And I'm stuck, nodoubt, for costs on my own impending divorce, plus child support, a settlement and loss of the house which I'm sure she'll invite him into as soon as the decree is final. Not that I can prove adultery. They're too smart for that!

He didn't even pay room and board for the year he was stealing my wife. I can't say I'll miss that little vixen much, but I'd sure like to come out of this deal as something more than a

PAUPER
Dear Pauper: Perhaps you can prove more than you think. Hire a lawyer and you may find that men aren't always motivated in divorce court. (Or you might even shoot for a reconciliation.)
Looks like when buddy-boy fell at your feet, he was reaching for the rug under them!—H.

Dear Helen: When there's no Family Service Agency in your town, and psychiatry costs too much, where do you turn for family and marriage counseling? We can't afford $30 per hour over a long period, but we DO have problems we can't manage ourselves.
Our marriage is going sour, and one of the children is close to real trouble. I'm desperate. They have insurance for medical problems, why not for emotional problems? Why must help be priced out of reach for the average family?—ALMOST DEFEATED

Dear A.D.: Call the Ministerial Association in your town. Surely at least one church offers a counseling service. This new kind of ministering is headed up by pastors who are also trained psychologists. The cost is usually based on ability to pay, and is never exorbitant.—H.

Dear Helen: You said you'd hate to be called a "Chairwoman," if you were elected chairman. In this some sort of Freudian jealousy of males?—M.C.J.

Dear M: Nope. "Chairwoman" sounds too much like "Chairwoman," that's all. Come to think of it: I've never heard of a "Chairman," perhaps because it might be confused with "Chairman."—H.

Big Three of Pro Golf at Jacksonville

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Pro golf's big three—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player—will be playing together for the first time this year and rank as the men to beat in the $100,000 Greater Jacksonville Open golf tournament.

None, however, wants the favorite's tag for the 72-hole test that begins Thursday on the 6,983 yard, par 72 Hidden Hills Country Club course.

"My putting is atrocious," said Palmer.

"I haven't really gotten acclimated to the change from South Africa," said Player, who started his American tour only last week.

"I haven't played much lately and really don't know what my game's like," said Nicklaus, who took some time off last week and has played only seven tournaments in the last six months.

But that awesome trio, which won a total of six tournaments last year, still ranks as the class of the 144 man field that is lacking a number of the top names of the game.

Among the missing are Billy Casper, Gene Littler, Masters champion George Archer, U.S. Open title-holder Orville Moody and Vardon Trophy winner Dave Hill.

Casper is skipping the entire Florida tour while Archer, Moody and Hill all have had extensive winter campaigns and are taking some rest before the Masters next month.

Palmer, the game's all-time leading money winner and greatest gate attraction, could rate as the top candidate for the $20,000 top prize—if he can cure his putting woes.

"From tee to green he's playing better than I've ever seen him," said Bob Rusk, a former tour regular and now one of the country's leading teaching professionals.

Other top contenders include Dick Lotz, winner of last week's Monahan Open, defending champion Ray Floyd, who appeared to have snapped a lengthy slump with a third place finish last week, Dave Stockton and Frank Beard.

Veteran Dan Sikes, who will be playing on his home course, also could be a factor. Others include Lee Trevino and such 1970 tour winners as Bob Luna, Bruce Devlin, Ron Cerrudo and Bert Yancey.

Legal Hurdles Facing the Pilot Club

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The American League was headed for court today, trying to clear three legal hurdles blocking transfer of the Seattle Pilots to Milwaukee—or face the possible alternative of operating as an 11-team league this season.

That possibility existed following Tuesday's developments in which:

- The reported transfer of the Pilots to Milwaukee was blocked by a restraining order obtained in Tampa and papers served by the State of Washington, both prohibiting the American League temporarily from moving the financially plagued club.

- The American League adopted a resolution in which it said, "There are... reasons why the American League... cannot continue financial support of the Pilots beyond the amount already committed."

"Our hands are tied right now," said American League President Joe Cronin after the day-long session, during which the owners were served papers by deputy sheriffs from Tampa and a representative of the attorney general's office in the State of Washington.

Cronin also said, "It's almost impossible to operate with 11 clubs," but the league's attorney, Sandy Hadden, admitted it's a "theoretical possibility."

The possibility could arise if the legal restraints cannot be removed in time for the opening of the season less than three weeks away and the Pilots' current owners, apparently running out of money, are forced to con-

Pilots Not Leaving Seattle Yet

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Seattle Pilots aren't going to Milwaukee just yet, but at least one major league baseball team is on the move this week. The San Francisco Giants leave today for a nine-game tour of Japan, the first time a big league club has made the trip before the season.

The entire squad is making the trip, including slugging first baseman Willie McCovey, whose inflamed right eye has been diagnosed as a side effect of a drug prescribed for arthritis in his right arm.

Dr. San Kimura of the University of California Medical School prescribed new medication and said McCovey's trouble should disappear before the Giants return to the States March 31, one week before the start of the season.

The Giants prepped for their trip by dropping an 8-6 exhibition contest Tuesday to the Chicago Cubs. The winners snapped a 6-all tie on eighth-inning singles by Cleo James and Paul Popovich.

Most of the baseball news, though, was made off the field. All sorts of papers were served on American League owners meeting in Tampa, Fla., preventing transfer of the Seattle franchise Milwaukee for the time being.

Pitcher Steve Carlton, the St. Louis Cardinals' last hold-out, signed a two-year contract and said he was "completely satisfied." The Cards had ordered him to report under a section of baseball's reserve clause.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn disclosed that voting for the all-star teams is being given back to the fans.

The Grapefruit League highlight was Minnesota's first exhibition victory after nine defeats, a 5-2 triumph over the Cardinals. Jim Kaat hurled six strong innings, Tony Oliva drove in three runs and manager Bill Rigney had a ball—the game ball.

"Leo Cardenas came up to me after the game," Rigney reported, "and said, 'We waited a long time for this; you should have the ball.'"

While the Twins were breaking the ice, the Detroit Tigers continued to be beset by problems. They committed eight errors and the Kansas City Royals clobbered Mike Killynn, Fred Scherman and Dennis Saunders for 19 hits in a 12-4 rout.

Killynn took the loss, one of the few Irishmen who wasn't whooping it up on St. Patrick's Day.

Slick-fielding Ron Woods continued to wield a hot bat in his bid to crack the New York Yankees' outfield. Woods hammered a two-run pinch homer in the ninth inning, capping a 8-4 rally—the Yankees trailed 8-0 after three innings—that climaxed in a 9-8 triumph over the Boston Red Sox. It was the third consecutive game Woods won with his bat. He hit .181 last season.

Gary Nolan pitched five scoreless innings and Johnny Bench and Ted Savage homered as the Cincinnati Reds tripped the Philadelphia Phillies 4-2.

Claude Osteen of the Los Angeles Dodgers worked a similar shutout span and rookie Steve Garvey slammed a three-run homer in a 5-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Montreal Expos, punched across two runs in the ninth inning and nipped the Braves 4-3. Tommie Agee's run-scoring single in the 10th inning gave the New York Mets a 6-5 win over the Cleveland Indians.

The Cleveland Indians rapped out 11 hits and downed the Oakland A's 4-1.

Home runs by Paul Blair, Don Buford and Terry Crowley paced the Baltimore Orioles over the Mexican League All-Stars 11-1 in a night game at Mexico City.

Washington appeared on the scene through an attorney who served papers in an $80 million suit brought Monday to stop the transfer or sale of the Pilots.

Schweppe also has a suit pending in Seattle.

Those are the three legal hurdles that have to be cleared before the American League can make a move. It is apparent that, barring the restraining order, they would have moved—to Milwaukee. They all but said so in the resolution, pointing out:

Maravich Not Pleased With Performance
By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Pete Maravich, the Louisiana Lulu, was doing his incomparable thing as 19,500 appreciative basketball fans roared ear-splitting approval at Madison Square Garden.

"Way to go, Pete, way to go, Baby," voices exorted through the animated audience as Louisiana State University's prize in purple shorts shot the eyes out of the basket.

Maravich himself didn't appreciate his performance—"I stunk"—but it was strong enough to lead LSU over Oklahoma 97-94 Tuesday night and into the semifinals of the National Invitation Tournament.

Marquette won the opener over outgunned Utah 83-63 for a semifinal match with LSU Thursday night. St. John's of New York meets Army in the other game.

Maravich boosted his all time career scoring mark with 37-point—but it wasn't his scoring that pumped the crowd with Adrenalin.

Maravich's reckless abandon with a basketball-behind-the-back passes, between-the-legs dribbling and illogical, off-balance jump shots—coaxed "oohs and ahs" from the fans. They even applauded his unspectacular foul shooting.

"I appreciate the fans," said Maravich after plopping his angular 6-foot-5 frame into a chair. "I'm very appreciative of the crowds...but I was still terrible."

The Pistol was obviously down on himself for several passes that went astray, causing turnovers in critical situations. And he apparently held himself to blame after the Bayou Tigers blew a 17-point lead and had to fight for their lives at the end.

Coach Press Maravich, Pete's father, had a different interpretation. "They lost their poise," said the coach after Oklahoma came back to within two, at 94-92, with 48 seconds left after trailing 75-58. "They just choked. My team doesn't have the killer instinct, that's all."

"We should have beaten Oklahoma by 35 points. I'm very unhappy."

He scored his son for what he termed "loss of animal instinct."

"He's thinking, not playing basketball," said Press Maravich. He must play by instinct and not think about what kind of a shot he'll take or pass he'll make. That's what's hurt us."

Garfield Heard, Oklahoma's high scorer with 27, brought his team back within two with a field goal after a steal.

Then Maravich took things into his own hands, dribbling 19 seconds off the clock before he was fouled at the 29-second mark. He then put in two fouls to nail it down.

Dean "The Dream" Meminger, had his finest game at the Garden—scoring game-high 28 points—to lead Marquette to a runaway first-game victory.

"Coach (Al McGuire) just told me to go and try to penetrate Utah," said Meminger, "and I took advantage of that opportunity."

"He's gotten over his Gardenitis," said McGuire of his brilliant guard. "We're now physically—and mentally—ready to play. We're good and loose."

Scramble Wild in Western ABA Division

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's a wild scramble in the Western Division of the American Basketball Association with four of the five teams separated by only two games in the important loss column.

New Orleans kept the Western race close by beating Washington 110-104 in the feature of a doubleheader at Fresno, Calif., Tuesday night, that kept the Buccaneers even in the loss column at 33 defeats, the same as Washington and Dallas.

First-place Denver, whipped by Kentucky 119-110, holds a two-game edge over Washington with a 41-31 record to the Caps' 39-33. Dallas is 37-33 and New Orleans 35-33.

Even Los Angeles, which humbled Pittsburgh 126-116 in the other half of the Fresno twin bill, is within halting distance at 35-36.

In the National Basketball Association, New York downed Detroit 122-106, San Diego whipped Boston 125-117, Phoenix overcame San Francisco 133-121, Seattle beat Chicago 109-102 and Atlanta shaded Philadelphia 128-125.

Two free throws by Gerald Golan with 20 seconds left helped New Orleans stop a late Washington rally. Rick Barry got 32 points for the Caps, James Jones 25 for the Bucs.

George Stone paced Los Angeles to its 10th victory in 12 games with 27 points against the pipers. Stew Johnson also tallied 27 for Pittsburgh.

Louie Dampier threw in 23 points to lead Kentucky of the Eastern Division over Denver at Louisville. The Rockets cut a 19-point deficit to three at 92-89 before the Colonels pulled away again. Spencer Haywood was high for Denver with 27 points.

The league's longest reception was Wendell Tucker's 93-yards on a touchdown pass from Los Angeles Rams' quarterback Roman Gabriel on the first play from scrimmage in the Rams' 41-30 victory over San Francisco Nov. 9.

Abramowicz' total is two more than Clifton McNeil's winning total last year for the San Francisco 49ers, and two better than this year's runnerup, Charley Taylor of the Washington Redskins. The statistics were released today by the NFL.

Harold Jackson of the Philadelphia Eagles, with 1,116 yards on 65 receptions, in his first full NFL season, won individual laurels for most yards gained pass receiving.

Lance Rentzel scored the most touchdowns, with 12 for the Dallas Cowboys. Gary Collins of Cleveland was runnerup with 11.

Rentzel was tops in the highest average gain on the basis of 35 or more receptions, with 22.3 yards per catch.

Seven players had 10 receptions in one game—John Gilliam and Davey Williams of the St. Louis Cardinals; Bob Long and Taylor of Washington; Dick Gordon and Bob Wallace of the Chicago Bears; and Mel Farr of the Detroit Lions.

UCLA Coach Thinks Team Is Ready

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Coach John Wooden says his UCLA team is physically and mentally prepared to defend its NCAA basketball championship title but he expects quite a battle from New Mexico State.

Wooden also disputes State coach Lou Henson who says the Amazon Aggies are as physically strong as UCLA but lack the Bruins' speed and quickness.

"I've never run across two players more agile than Collins and Criss," said Wooden Thursday night after his team held a one hour workout at Georgetown University after arriving from the West Coast.

He referred to New Mexico State senior guards Jimmy Collins and Charley Criss.

UCLA, winner of 26 and loser of 2, was the first team to arrive for the finals at the University of Maryland this week. The others, New Mexico State, Jacksonville and St. Bonaventure, arrive today.

All but State work out at College Park today. The Aggies will hold a session Thursday morning.

Wooden said he brought his team in a day ahead of the others because he wanted the players to adjust to the time difference between the west and east coasts.

UCLA meets State, 26-2 for the Western championship Thursday night after Jacksonville, 26-1, plays St. Bonaventure, 25-1, for the Eastern title.

The winners of the two games play for the NCAA championship Saturday at 4:00 p.m. EST on national television (NBC).

Henson had nothing but accolades for the UCLA squad in a telephone news conference Tuesday afternoon for local writers covering the championship.

He said he believed the current UCLA team is as good as the three containing Lew Alcindor that won the NCAA championship the past three years.

Rogers on Laos War Nothing New

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers' testimony before the subcommittee on the Vietnam War in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Monday was not a new revelation of American policy, a State Department source says.

Rogers' testimony, in which he said "we have no present plans if it (Laos) is overrun to use combat troops," was made public Monday by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, at the request of several committee members.

Rogers testified before the committee in executive session March 3. References to his testimony came up Monday as committee members quizzed Undersecretary of State Elliott Richardson on U.S. Laotian policy in an open session.

The State Department source, who added the background policy of speaking without attribution and without direct quotation, said Rogers' statement, taken in context of his testimony, did not signal a new U.S. policy in the Southeast Asian nation.

Rather, the source said, Rogers merely sought to reassure the committee there are no plans at present to commit U.S. ground troops to Laos.

The Rogers testimony as read into the committee record by Fulbright:

"Well, we have no present plans if it is overrun to use combat troops (in Laos). Now whether we would—I don't want to say that we would never think about it. But there are no present plans of that kind."

The parenthetical reference to Laos was added by the committee.

The senators also released a bit of Rogers' earlier testimony in which he appeared to commit the administration to seeking advance approval before putting U.S. troops in Laos. Under questioning from the committee, Richardson said Rogers had meant consultation with Congress rather than a request for a resolution to authorize troop use.

The State Department source said that, despite some confusion about Richardson's testimony later, both the undersecretary and Rogers meant the administration would consult with Congress but did not feel affirmative congressional action to be required.

Meanwhile, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield warned that U.S. operations in Laos follow "a familiar pattern, akin to that which drove us... ever deeper into Vietnam."

Because of that pattern, Mansfield said, both Democrats and Republicans have hoisted warning flags in the Senate.

"... The Senate senses that it is vital to the future of this nation... that what transpired in Vietnam not be repeated in Laos," the Montana Democrat said. "Unless this bleeding of men and resources can be halted now, where on the Asian mainland does it end? What lies beyond Laos? Thailand? Cambodia? China?"

Mansfield discussed the Laotian conflict in a speech prepared for the convention of the American paper industry in New York.

He called on the Nixon admin-

CASUALTIES of the war in Laos talk in a military hospital near the Plain of Jars. It isn't clear whether the one soldier's crutches are too large or he's too small.

War Hurts Vet Policies —Fulbright

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., says the nation continues to spend money in Vietnam at the expense of veterans in Veterans Administration Hospitals.

Fulbright made the statement in a recent newsletter to his constituents.

"The sad paradox is that while we have spent billions of dollars in Vietnam, we have not provided sufficient funding for medical care for veterans," Fulbright said.

"I can find no justification for providing anything other than first-rate care for those who have sacrificed so much for this country," the newsletter said. "This obviously is going to require more money and indeed must rank as one of our top priorities."

The Nixon administration's proposed budget for 1971 provides an increase of $9 million for veterans' hospitals and medical care and Fulbright said this increase is likely to be absorbed by inflation and increased pay.

istration to renew efforts to reach a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam war. A major step would be to name a replacement for Henry Cabot Lodge, the chief U.S. negotiator who resigned.

Mansfield also renewed his proposal that the Geneva conference on Laos be reconvened, and broadened to cover the situation in all Southeast Asia.

"From the point of view of the interests of this nation, it is time to seek, I believe, the neutralization, not only of Laos, but of all of Indochina and the entire Southeast Asian mainland," Mansfield said.

Richardson told the committee that if there was a signal that meaningful negotiation is possible, a new man would be named to head the U.S. delegation to the Paris peace talks.

He also said, in respect to Laos, total U.S. withdrawal now might lead to the collapse of the neutralist government lead by Prince Souvanna Phouma.

The White House, meanwhile, confirmed a report Monday that more than a dozen Americans died two years ago when Communist troops overran a U.S. base in Laos.

Program on Health Is Denounced

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scathing report by the American Public Health Association says the nation's medical care system is broken down with millions of persons exposed to health brutality each day.

"Circumstances that can only be called health brutality pervade the lives of millions of American people who live in communities that seem designed to break the human spirit," the report said.

It was prepared by the current APHA president, Dr. Paul B. Cornely, and the immediate past president, Dr. Lester Breslow, after the two visited six communities across the nation last year.

The APHA is a private organization representing 18,000 doctors and public health workers.

The report offered case studies that included:

—A 59-year-old Mexican-American grandmother in a Houston, Tex., barrio who is ineligible for welfare or Social Security and must support herself and her 2-year-old grandson on $10 a week from her son.

—Several hundred predominantly Mexican-American farm workers in Tulare County, Calif., who sicken each year after being sprayed with pesticides from crop dusting planes.

—A 53-year-old American Indian veteran of World War II living in a shack in Great Falls, Mont., and supporting himself, six children and one grandchild on a small pension and "what we can scrounge from salvage in a junk yard."

—An "uncooperative," chronic alcoholic who carried a card from Grady Hospital identifying him as an epileptic, but who, a few days before our visit had occupied the hole—a four-foot by eight-foot solitary confinement cell in the Atlanta, Ga. (city prison).

"As public health physicians, we thought we knew pretty well the nature and extent of these conditions," Cornely and Breslow said in the report, titled Health Crisis in America, "but frankly we were shocked and are still reeling."

"While there has been considerable improvement in the quality of life for most Americans, the fact still remains that a large proportion of the 20 million blacks, 5 million Mexican-Americans, 500,000 American Indians and millions of others live day in and day out in conditions we would not let our animals endure."

"And the system of care for people with disease associated with such conditions seems mainly to obstruct their receiving the care that is needed," the report said.

It describes ghetto dwellers in rat-infested, overpriced apartments with nonfunctioning plumbing that menaced health. When disease strikes, the report said, there often are no local physicians or clinics; public hospitals, miles away and poorly served by transportation, offer long waits and impersonal care; welfare-linked medical assistance is too frequently unavailable for those most needy.

The two physicians found 54,000 hungry families in the Kenwood-Oakland neighborhood of Southside Chicago where the infant mortality rate is an astonishing 45 for every 1,000 babies born.

"One lady told us how she watched her baby die while waiting three hours for care in an emergency room at Cook County Ill. Hospital," they said. "The agencies that are supposed to deal with the problems appear to exist mainly as enforcers of rules that are carefully framed legalistic subterfuges to avoid providing needed services," the report said.

The sixth community visited was Washington, D.C., where the two physicians described the Potomac River as totally polluted.

Crime Rises at L.R. for Year 1969

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Little Rock Police Chief Gale Weeks said Monday that an increase in population and improved crime reporting were two main factors in the rise in serious crimes in Little Rock last year.

Serious crimes in the city increased in all categories during 1969 as compared with 1968, according to an FBI report, but the police department was ahead of the national average in the percentage of crimes solved, Weeks said.

He cited the greatest increase in offenses as burglaries and breaking and entering. There 1,949 offenses in that category in 1968 and 2,821 reported in 1969.

N.Y. Collects on Race Way

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state collected $10,992,668 in parimutuel revenues from the 52-day spring meeting at Roosevelt Raceway, the N.Y. State Tax Department reported Monday.

Cattle Poisoned, Blacks Quit

ASHVILLE, Ala. (AP) — The Black Muslims, upset over the death of 63 head of cattle in recent weeks, are planning to leave their St. Clair County farm Wednesday.

"We don't want to be anywhere we are not wanted," the Black Muslim leader, Elijah Muhammad, said today in Chicago.

"I understand that the farm is for sale," said Sheriff Joel Wood, who is heading the investigation into the cattle deaths.

The Muslims own approximately 1,000 acres four miles south of Asheville. Land owned by the Pine Forest Missionary Baptist Church adjoins part of it. The Ku Klux Klan has leased other land adjoining the Muslim property "to keep a watch on them," the Klan Imperial Wizard, Robert Shelton, said recently.

The Muslims reportedly are planning to move across the state to other Muslim land in Greene County.

Wood said a test of two cows at Auburn University showed they died of calcium arsenic poisoning and he said this indicated a total of 24 cattle died from the same cause last week.

Supersonic Transport to Pose Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — Will the commercial supersonic transport, scheduled for use in 1978, be permitted to fly over populated areas, accompanied by a sonic boom that some critics say will be loud as a bomb?

Place your bets. Those concerned with environment say it cannot be permitted. Critics remind anyone who will listen that technology has a way of rolling along against all obstacles, including human cries.

The anti-SST forces, which include myriad groups and individuals, have focused on the threatened noise pollution as their most potent weapon. But curiously, they seem to ignore equally hazardous effects.

Consider some of them, taken ard, Robert Shelton, said recently.

The Muslims reportedly are planning to move across the state to other Muslim land in Greene County.

Wood said a test of two cows at Auburn University showed they died of calcium arsenic poisoning and he said this indicated a total of 24 cattle died from the same cause last week.

from a report to President Nixon on last fall.

"Passengers and crew will be vulnerable to a number of potentially serious physical, physiological and psychological stresses associated with rapid acceleration, gravitational changes, reduced barometric pressure..."

A loss of pressure at 66,000 feet, we are reminded, would result in all aboard losing consciousness within 15 seconds. Toxic ozone must be sealed from the craft. Radiation will be 100 times greater than on land.

If those aren't problems enough, there are environmental effects to deal with, such as: "Persistent contrails might form to such an extent that there would be significant increases in cirrus clouds," perhaps altering weather patterns.

In a nation which has sent men to the moon, however, there is confidence that many of these problems will be licked routinely by the application of technology. But that confidence appears lacking in regard to the sonic boom.

Even Boeing Company engineers concede the problem is an obstacle, and present plans call for flights only over water. That is the public stance of both government, which is helping finance the project, and the builder.

Groups such as the Citizens

League Against the Sonic Boom don't believe them and are making so much noise about the issue that they have ears ringing all the way from their Cambridge, Mass., headquarters to Boeing's Seattle offices.

Asked about the matter, E. H. "Tex" Boullion, vice president and general manager of the commercial airplane group at Boeing, reiterated Boeing's stand that the plane was not planned for domestic flights.

However, he added, "I as a person predict that there will be renewed interest in flying the SST domestically. That interest is very small now. We've got very few studies on domestic routes compared with international."

Boullion, a low keyed engineer with a record of brilliant achievements on complex projects, obviously believes that someday the SST can be an overland craft but he is resigned, he said, to letting the argument be settled by the two prototypes now being built by Boeing.

"We'll prove it with the prototypes," he said. "We can't win in the meantime. I just don't think that when we get it flying, and people see it, they're going to find it that bad."

League Against the Sonic Boom don't believe them and are making so much noise about the issue that they have ears ringing all the way from their Cambridge, Mass., headquarters to Boeing's Seattle offices.

Outlawing of Germ War Asked

GENEVA (AP) — The United States today urged the 28-nation disarmament conference to adopt "a binding international commitment" never to engage in germ warfare.

Chief U.S. Delegate James Leonard said such an agreement should follow the lines of the British draft treaty to ban the manufacture, use and stockpiling of biological weapons.

The United States "has totally renounced biological warfare," Leonard said.

The United States opposes a Soviet proposal calling for a blanket ban on all chemical and biological weapons on the grounds that the chemical issue is too complex for speedy agreement.

Leonard presented a paper saying that some chemical weapons are difficult to distinguish from ordinary industrial products.

Another factor, Leonard said, is that "there is a reluctance based on sound military considerations to eliminate chemical capabilities without firm assurance and safeguards that other states are doing likewise."

Who Cares?

- You who devote your lives to teaching our children and young people.
- You who are dedicated employees of our state, city and county governments.
- You who are parents of a retarded child still awaiting admittance to the Children's Colony.
- You who take care of our 33,000 dependent children on just pennies a day.
- You who must exist on the lowest of welfare payments.
- You who need the help of reduced state income tax payments.
- You who had hoped for a fair consideration of Arkansas's future.

You Care.

I Care.

I know that you are keenly disappointed and discouraged. So am I. But I am not conceding that we are defeated. I still believe in what is right for our state. I am still working for you.

Windsong Is Favored at Oaklawn

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Busy Windsong, trained by Doug Davis Jr., is expected to be the favorite in today's $5,500 feature race at Oaklawn Park. Busy Windsong has been assigned 110 pounds for the one mile and 70 yard test and will be ridden by James McKnight. Others in the field are Black Chaparral (110), Gemini S. (115), I'm In Favor (107), Skee Ruler (113), Pendon (122), Knollwood (111), Grand Royal (119) and Taronnos (111).

In Tuesday's $6,500 feature race, McKnight rode Idieh to a 2 1/2 length victory over Lady Doggett. Idieh, owned by G. M. Holt-singer and trained by Davis, covered the six furlongs of muddy track in 1:12 2-5 and returned $5.00, $4.40 and $3.20. Lady Doggett paid $6.20 and $4.00 and Polymar, the show horse, returned $4.40. The victory was Idieh's second in two Oaklawn outings.

Kuhn Proves He's Friend of the Fans

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn is a friend of the fan.

He proved that Tuesday in announcing that voting for the All-Star teams is shifting from the players to the fans.

The fans lost the ballots after the 1966 game at Washington, when exuberant Cincinnati fans stuffed the ballot box in favor of Reds' players.

"We had a very fine team of Cincinnati Reds that year for the National League," Kuhn joked. He made the announcement in St. Petersburg, Fla., with telephone hookups to New York and Fort Lauderdale.

The Cincinnati Reds will continue their traditional selection of the starting pitchers and the reserves.

Under the new arrangement, Kuhn said the Gillette Company will print and distribute computerized style ballots to 75,000 voting outlets. These, plus voting outlets in major and minor league ball parks will provide a tremendous voting outlet, Kuhn said.

The voting will begin on May 30 and continue until June 28. During that time, the ballots will be regularly counted by a computer. The All-Star Game is scheduled for July 14 in Cincinnati.

There'll be only one vote per person. The voter will be required to fill in his name and address on the ballot.

The votes will be reviewed by a committee of "baseball and sports media experts" to be named by Kuhn. If the panel disputes a selection, the position will be voted on by the 12 managers and 12 players representatives from the league in question.

Hot Springs Hires a New Coach

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Bobby Hannon, an assistant coach at Dallas Baptist College, has been hired as head football coach at Hot Springs High School.

Hannon, a former assistant coach at Little Rock Central, was hired Tuesday by principal Tommy Brasher, who resigned recently to take a position at the University of Arkansas.

Raider Coach Proves He Can Recruit

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Jim Carlen has proved he can recruit in the Southwest Conference. And next Monday the new Texas Tech football coach gets his first shot on the field.

The Red Raiders open spring football practice March 23rd and Carlen has advised his charges to be ready.

"There will be quite a few bodies bouncing off of each other out there," says the former West Virginia mentor.

Carlen landed the No. 1 and No. 2 quarterback prospects in the state when he signed school-boy stars Jimmy Carmichael of Brownwood and Joe Barnes of Big Lake.

But his immediate problem is putting the Red Raiders in the same class as Texas and Arkansas in the SWC football world.

"We've looked at some of the films from last year's games to get an idea of how to start them out in the spring," Carlen says.

"Of course, what they do in spring training will determine how we lineup next fall."

Carlen says Texas Tech's personnel will dictate the offense but adds "We will work the option and throw the ball."

He says there will be heavy stress on fundamentals during the spring.

Carlen's dedication to hard work brings to mind a short talk Texas' All-American fullback Steve Worster made several weeks ago before the Fort Worth Junior Bar Association.

Dedication starts deep in the soul of each individual and each coach," said Worster. "We had no Chris Gilberts this past season. So it took superior teamwork. No one overshadowed another. We had confidence in each other."

"I had confidence that when I hit the line with the ball, one of our two big tackles would have a hole for me to run through."

Carlen is already winding over recruits with the kind of confidence Worster is talking about.

Carmichael's mother, when asked why her highly sought son decided on Texas Tech, said: "His coaches are real dedicated, fine Christian men. They are interested in the boys. They have confidence they are going to win. It even carries over to the parents."

Top Football Executives in Meeting

HONOLULU (AP) — Pro football's top executives got in a round of golf today before tackling the next big problem facing the first meeting of the newly merged National and American football leagues.

Owners of the 26 league clubs, having picked Miami for the 1971 Super Bowl and resolved league differences, teed off as the next phase of their weeklong session was mullied in Boston.

The Boston City Council was expected to decide late today whether to build a new stadium for the homeless Boston Patriots and an NFL decision on the Pats' future hung on the outcome.

Miami was successful in its bid for the Jan. 17, 1971 Super Bowl Tuesday, becoming the first city to host the game three times.

Two Charged Are Natives of Arkansas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two of the 14 officers charged with dereliction of duty and other offenses in a field investigation of the alleged Son My-Lai massacre are natives of Arkansas.

Brig. Gen. George H. Young Jr., 49, was born at Pine Bluff and Col. Robert Bryan Luper, 46, was born at Springdale. Young is stationed in Europe and Luper is on the Army's Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Robert Wallace McKnight, 36, another of the 14, was a ROTC instructor at Arkansas State University. He was in Vietnam until November 1968 and returned as a student to ASU.

In July 1969, McKnight became a student at the Command and General Staff College.

Young graduated high school at Columbia Military Academy in Tennessee and from the Citadel, Charleston, S.C. in 1942. He participated in the invasion of Sicily and Salerno in World War II and served in Japan and Korea.

In 1964, Young assumed command of the 1st Brigade of the 3rd Infantry Division and in February 1966 served as chief of staff for the U.S. Army Communication Zone in Europe.

He was assigned to Army headquarters in Vietnam in March 1967 and became assistant division commander when the American Division was reactivated. He was commanding general of the 9a Nang support command until October 1968 when he returned to Europe to

Faubus Poll Says WR Can Be Beaten

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Former Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Tuesday night that polls show Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller can be defeated if he seeks a third term.

But Faubus wasn't ready to talk about the possibility that the man to handle the job of making Rockefeller a two-term command the 24th Infantry Division.

Young's decorations include the Bronze and Silver stars with clusters and the Air Medal. He is married, with two children and lists his home as Pine Bluff.

Luper served four years in the Marine Corps as an enlistment man and joined the Army in July 1950. He was stationed at Camp Chaffee, Ark., and Ft. Bragg, N.C. He served in Korea for one year and after two years at Ft. Sill, went to Europe for a three-year tour in 1954.

There were successive assignments at Ft. Lawton, Washington as a student at the Command and General Staff College and in Washington, D.C., before he went to Hawaii in June 1965.

Two years later he became attached to the 11th Infantry Brigade and accompanied it to Vietnam in December 1967. He later served at division artillery headquarters with the American Division.

Luper has been on the Command and General Staff College staff since December 1968. His decorations include the Bronze Star and Air Medal. He is married and has two children.

List of Those Charged in Massacre

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is a list of the officers charged Tuesday as a result of the field investigation of the alleged My Lai and Son My massacres (UCMJ stands for uniform code).

Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koste, then commanding general of the Americal Division, is charged with violations of Article 92, UCMJ, failure to obey lawful regulations and dereliction in the performance of his duties.

Brig. Gen. George H. Young Jr., then assistant division commander, Americal Division, is charged with violations of Article 92, UCMJ, failure to obey lawful regulations and dereliction in the performance of his duties.

Col. Oran K. Henderson, then commanding officer, 11th Infantry Brigade, is charged with violation of Articles 92, 107 and 134, UCMJ, failure to obey lawful regulations and dereliction in the performance of his duties.

The former governor looked trim, and he beamed whenever anyone urged him to make another race for the office he held for 12 years until his retirement in 1967.

While he skirted state politics in his talk, he discussed national issues, declaring that he opposed the trend toward criticism for criticism's sake.

"The right to criticize should always be preserved," he said. "But when you criticize, you should be ready with a substitute which you think is better."

"The cardinal point of the Communist system is to create disillusionment with the system they (communists) would destroy," Faubus said.

Faubus was accompanied by his wife, Elizabeth, who last Friday suffered a miscarriage

GAF Accepts 40 Acres for Sanctuary

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Game and Fish Commission voted Tuesday to accept a gift of 40 acres of woodlands for a wildlife sanctuary.

Miss Lily Peter of Marvell offered the land to the commission and acceptance is contingent upon the approval of Andrew Hulse, commission director.

Hulse said the land included virgin woodlands Miss Peter wanted the commission to maintain for the benefit of others.

Last year, Miss Peter sponsored the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra's appearance in Little Rock.

The Gerber convention was invented by John Gerber of Houston about the same time as Easley Blackwood invented Blackwood.

Gerber uses the four-club bid as an ace-asking bid with the four-diamond response to show zero or four aces, four hearts to show one, four spades to show two, three to show three, two to show four. It has never achieved popularity except after no-trump openings, when players prefer to use four no-trump as a strong no-trump bid.

North's four-club bid was Gerber. His partner was using 16-18 point no-trump openings. North, who was looking at 21 high-card points of his own wanted to make sure that his partner hadn't cheated and bid a 15-pointer without an ace.

When South showed the ace, North went right to the grand slam. If South held the king of clubs, there would have been tricks to burn but South held every other point-count card as part of his 16.

North would still have been all right if South had used his head instead of his tongue. He won the spade lead in his own hand, remarked "I wish you had settled for six," and led the four of clubs.

West played the deuce and dummy the queen. East showed out and eventually South had to give West a club trick.

Thought instead of talk would have saved the grand slam. South would have seen that he could play any club he wished, if clubs were going to break 2-1, and that he would surely be down if East held the guarded king.

Give West all three clubs and the jack play would guard against that holding. If West ducked, it would be curtains; if West covered, East would show out and South would come back to his hand for a proven finesse against the 10-spot.

Mail Carriers on Strike in New York

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Defying federal anti-strike laws, letter carriers in Manhattan and the Bronx struck today for higher pay. Union officials said there would be no mail deliveries in those boroughs.

Post Office officials said the strike appeared to be the first in the history of the service. A successful walkout would cripple mail communications in one of the nation's busiest postal districts.

A department spokesman in Washington said contingency plans would be put into effect, adding, "We're going to deliver the mails in the best possible way we can."

The strike was voted at a meeting Tuesday night and pickets began appearing outside post office facilities in Manhattan shortly after midnight.

Gus Johnson, president of Branch 36 of the National Association of Letter Carriers, representing 6,704 mail carriers in the Bronx and Manhattan, reported the vote was 1,555 for a strike and 1,055 against.

Afterward, Jack Leventhal, president of the Brooklyn branch, said the 3,900 members there had authorized a strike and would join the walkout.

Two branches in Queens scheduled meetings today to decide on their action.

Morris Biller, president of Manhattan Bronx Postal Union, representing 25,000 clerks, mail handlers and other workers, said he expected members of his union would not cross the carriers' picket lines.

He called on the New York and Bronx postmasters to grant three days "administrative leave" to all postal employees to avoid "confrontations" where picket lines are posted.

The U.S. Code forbids a strike against the federal government and provides heavy penalties for any violation. Suits are pending in federal courts challenging the constitutionality of the statute.

Both Johnson and Leventhal said they were willing to go to jail for leading the strike. "If we take the salary for the job," said Johnson, "We will go to jail if we have to. It's part of the job."

He said the strike would continue until Congress approved increased wages and fringe benefits or until the carriers voted to return to work.

Presently letter carriers across the country have a uniform salary scale ranging from $9,100 to $9,442 after 21 years. The union wants a scale of from $8,500 to $11,700 after five years service.

Other demands include 20-year retirement at half pay regardless of age, full pension contributions, health premiums and life insurance premiums paid by the government.

Des Arc Bridge Is Dedicated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
DES ARC, Ark. (AP) — The formal dedication of a new bridge over the White River at Des Arc is to be held today. The bridge will replace the suspension bridge which has been in service since 1928.

The new bridge, which is on Arkansas 38, is located about 1/2 mile upstream from the other bridge. Representatives of the Des Arc Chamber of Commerce and several Highway Commission officials are to take part in the ceremonies.

their criminal justice systems through injections of federal funds.

As drafted by the Johnson administration, LEAA would have made federal grants directly to the big cities, where most serious crimes occur. But House Republicans led a successful floor fight to alter the bill so the money goes to the states for redistribution to the cities.

In recent weeks Celler's committee has received complaints from numerous city officials that the state plan approach is not working. Time and money have been wasted setting up a new bureaucracy to run the program, they said, and funds have been so widely dispersed that little is being accomplished.

One of the administration's who reported evacuation only minutes before of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving due to a bomb threat.

Scott, at a press conference at the White House, also said President Nixon had asked his staff to draw up recommendations for laws to protect federal property against bombings and bombing threats.

The spate of bombings and bomb threats also has stirred action in state capitals.

Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel has urged his state's legislature to restrict sales of explosives and provide life imprisonment for convicted bombers. New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has said his state's laws also must be strengthened.

In Congress, Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, has a bill making possession of untaxed explosive materials a federal crime. The measure would levy a tax on transfer of blasting material and require registration of parties to such a transaction.

His bill also would make persons convicted of—or under indictment for—a felony, alien or mentally ill persons ineligible to purchase explosives.

Scott said the President had asked his aides last Friday to prepare legislation that "would deal with bombings and with conspiracies to commit that act."

Despite the current rush to get new laws on the books, one Capitol Hill expert on weapons regulations says an obscure provision of the gun control law permits federal authorities to stop bomb carriers simply by naming them for having an unregistered "destructive device."

Another official says this ban has been effective as far as it goes—with some arrests and a few convictions—but the problem seems to be getting out of hand.

And, while no one loves a bomber, notes of caution on how far the law can go in its controls of explosive material are being raised by officials who want to continue protecting legitimate use of such things as a kid's chemistry set.

Vanik's aides said their research has uncovered no state with legal controls to compare with those in his proposal, although New York City has a comprehensive law forbidding unauthorized transportation, possession or use of dynamite or other explosives.

Rep. William E. Mitchell, R-Ohio, says he has hunted through all federal legal provisions dealing with explosives and failed to find one which "would vitally affect, control, or restrict" distribution or sale of dynamite and other blasting material.

None require keeping records of such sales—except under the Federal Explosives Act, he added, and that law operates only under a declaration of war or national emergency.

Mitchell has proposed legislation to amend the 1968 gun control law to include explosives, make sale of such a destructive device illegal, and require the seller to keep records.

An Internal Revenue Service official said the 1968 gun control law's current provisions on destructive devices are slanted toward the explosive or bomb designed to be used as a weapon.

"If the explosives are in such combinations that it obviously becomes a weapon," he added, "then the law makes that illegal and provides us with a charge against the individual."

But, he said, when a person buys dynamite, "there's no way to read his mind and no way to trace every commercial stick of dynamite from its sale to its use."

HOPE (AND) SYAN, Printed by O'Hart

chief complaints is that Congress has been dragging its feet on crime legislation. But the administration didn't submit its proposed amendments to the LEAA until two weeks ago and Mitchell didn't testify on it until last week. Yet, at the time, he called the program "the federal government's major effort to help the states and cities reduce the plague of crime."

A bill the administration has specifically accused Congress of delaying is a proposal on pretrial detention. This would permit the jailing for up to 60 days without bail or trial of a suspect charged with a violent crime if a judge found he would be a danger to the community if at large on bail.

As a federal statute it would have little effect since the number of such crimes tried in the federal courts is small. But it would have a serious impact on the District of Columbia, where the federal government has jurisdiction over all courts.

Both the House and Senate judiciary committees held hearings on the bill last year and members and witnesses said it raised grave constitutional questions.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., called pretrial detention "a facile and desperate device" and said it would destroy the basic principle of presuming a person innocent until proving him guilty in a fair trial. The American Bar Association expressed the opinion that it was unconstitutional.

The rationale behind the proposal is that crimes committed by persons on bail are so numerous such a law is needed. But Ervin drew from Justice Department witnesses an admission that there were no reliable statistics to bear out the presumption.

At Ervin's request the Justice Department asked the National Bureau of Standards last August to undertake a study that would supply the information. Results were promised in December, then January, then February, and now, at the end of this month. The hearings have been suspended awaiting the administration's findings.

However, the same bill was introduced in the House's District of Columbia committee, and it is being brought to the floor this week as part of a package of bills dealing with the capital city. There is a suspicion in the House and Senate judiciary committees that the administration has made an end run around them because it can't come up with the statistics to support its case.

One instance bearing out administration complaints of delay is in the failure of the House to act on the Organized Crime Control Act that sailed through the Senate last Jan. 23 by a vote of 73 to 1.

Wednesday, March 10, 1970

Celler, who feels the bill contains many constitutional defects and would dangerously expand police powers, has put it aside while his committee explores the workings of the LEAA.

When he does get around to taking up the crime control act, he plans to hold extensive hearings, calling in all the constitutional experts he can find to testify. He expects the weight of their testimony to lead to a rewriting of the Senate bill, if it emerges from his committee at all.
